Down The Base Paths

with TRENT FRAYNE

It may turn out that the longest way around was the shortest way home for Burleigh Grimes, one of few men in own who was having his nightmares with his eyes wide open through the waning days of August.

Mr. Grimes, the Manager of the Toronto Maple Leafs, was compelled to watch his earnest young men every night between the hours of eight and eleven p.m. recently in Rochester and Buffalo. Th parks over, their brilliantly illuminated but Mr. Grimes, nevertheless, was unable to banish hallucinations.

For a variety of reasons too terrible to bear repetition here, the Maple Leafs managed to whip up a nine game losing streak and while Mr. Grimes was reluctant to accept what his eyes were telling him it was impossible to escape the awful implications in the International League standings.

In practically no time at all — although, for Mr. Grimes, it must have seemed eons — the Maple Leafs had skidded from a comfortable six game bulge on the second division to within a half game of the fifth place Bisons. If Mr. Grimes' baby blue eyes had continued to focus such wretched images on his brain his team might well have challenged the Springfield Cubs for the honour of being the strongest team in the IL. From the point of view of carrying seven other teams on its head, that is.

As indicated so long ago in this wordy message, however, the longest way round might well be the shortest way home, for while Mr. Grimes was watching his heroes belabor every known method of kicking away a victory, he was resting two of his thumpers, Mr. Ferrell Anderson and Mr. Marvin Rickert.

It appeared that Burleigh's objective was to rest these weary sluggers in the hope of reanimating their lagging willows. Mr. Anderson, it will be recalled, carried the cub half the season with his murderous slugging and then, overcome apparently by weariness, he talled off like a wounded dove.

Mr. Rickert, on the other hand, never did deliver up to his 1951 potential when pitchers turned white with fear each time he trudged to the dish. It was Mr. Grimes theory, as he watched Mr. Rickert establish new highs for ineptitude that Marvellous Martin was plain tuckered out. Marvellous Marvin had played two successive seasons in the Cuban winter league in the immediate wake of his summertime activities and his round the clock duty, while salubrious for his sun tan, brewed only antipathy in his many, many muscles. He was, after two solid years of baseball, pooped.

So, Mr. Grimes placed Messrs. Rickert and Anderson derriere to derriere on the pine. He let them languish there while the Leafs sputtered, sacrificing whatever help they might be at the moment for the tremendous help they could conceivably be if their red corpuscles once more became vigorous.

It didn't work out too badly, either. Mr. Hal Keller proved an excellent catching replacement and Mr. Mike Goliat of all people, worked out pretty well in left field. And even when the versatile Billy Demars developed an horrendous ailment halfway between his heels and the hairs of his neck, Mr. Grimes did not waver. He employed Grover Bower, a centrefielder, at third base.

It is too early to tell — even with the season running out — whether Mr. Grimes long range view will pay off with a berth in the playoffs. Temporarily, at least though, it seems ol' Burl won the gamble.

The other night in Syracuse, for example, he sent Mr. Anderson in to bat as a pinch hitter with the bases full and two out. Andy responded with a double. Permitted to catch the rest of the game, he delivered a single in his next and last appearance.

Mr. Rickert, meanwhile, was brought back slowly. He pinch hit occasionally, but only occasionally and then after nearly three weeks lally to the outfield. The rest seemed to have done him good. His timing was better. He began meeting idleness, he was restored regu-ling the ball squarely instead of popping it and he was laying off the high outside pitches that were making his a goat in a two strikes situation.

The Local Sports Scene

As we go to press we still haven't had a report if and when the C. W. Hodgson softball trophy will be played. It's getting late and from all indications there will be no tournament this season. With time slipping by and winter just around the corner the tourney will have to be played sometime this month. Very little interest is being shown in this gala event. Recreation Director Herb Baker is doing all he can to get the thing underway but seems to be running into many snags along the way. From here it would appear that none of the teams are interested in playing any more ball this season. Earlier in the year the tournament was held until the playoffs in the Ontario Rural Softball League were over. As was mentioned before time is running out so we'll just have to wait and see what is going to happen.

Our good friend Morris Richardson who is now teaching High School at Niagara Falls tells us that he will be taking quite an active part in sports down that way this fall. He has been appointed a coach of the junior rugby team from the school. Good Luck Moe.

The motorcycle races at this year's Minden Fair held on Saturday last were a great success in every department. Thrills and spills throughout the afternoon kept the citizens right up in the air with excitement. Most of the riders came from around Lindsay and vicinity and were brought up with the co-operation of Mr. Bill Moody of Moody Upholstering. The biggest thrill of the afternoon was the famous board wall crash put on in great fashion. The daredevil rider who is experienced at the job came through the flaming board wall in professional style but ended up further on with the motorcycle on top of him. For awhile it was thought that he was badly hurt but he was soon back on his feet and over to the P.A. system to say a few words. Special thanks must go to Garnet Lytle of Minden for bringing in these motorcycle dare devils. Garnet worked hard on putting this fair over and two days before he put a P.A. system on top of his truck and toured the County inviting people to the fair. It really paid off as this was the largest fair held in Minden for the past several years. Next year the Minden Agricultural Society are looking forward to having a bigger and better one.

It was announced over the P.A. system in Minden on Saturday that Mr. Ed. Harding who now owns the Pioneer Grill was a great motorcycle racer in his day. The Dysart Recreation held a very successful dance at Wlg-A-Mog Inn on Friday night last. Special thanks to Mr and Mrs Robertson for throwing the doors of the Recreation Hall open for the evening. The Haliburton Huskies are expected to hold their first meeting of the season in the very near future. Yes this is Lindsay Fair week. For you racing fans the Board has gone to plenty of expense to put on some real races this year. One of the feature attractions of the racing card will be some sulky races. Don't miss this year's Lindsay Central Exhibition — The Haliburton Highlands Golf Links annual tournament got away on Sunday last. Reports tell us that the Dysart Recreation Committee will again this season look after the minor hockey in Haliburton. Recreation Director Herb Baker is still trying to get a team in to play the Haliburton Blue Sox in the windup hardball game of the season. Hardball teams don't seem to be too plentiful. It looks like a rush to the wire race in the American League this year. Who will win is anyone's guess. With the fall season coming on recreation at the Haliburton Community Hall will soon be back in full swing. Recreation Director Herb Baker tells us that Ping Pong and Badminton will begin right away.

A Glance
Haliburton At

The fire which was underway early Sunday morning in Haliburton was the biggest news since the Don Jail break in Toronto a week ago. Thanks to the Dymart Fire Department the fire was soon extinguished. This was the third time that the department had a chance to put the truck into operation. As soon as the alarm was sounded Fire Chief Tom Chambers and his men were right on the job. This fire alone will show the taxpayers of Dysart that the purchase of the fire truck by the local council was money well spent.

The carpenters who are on the new Legion Hall building have started to work inside in an effort to have the job finished by the end of the month.

Building seems to be the order of the day in Haliburton with many new houses being erected at the present time.

We were very pleased to have in the office of the Echo this week the publisher and his wife and daughter of the Cumber Herald at Cumber, Ont.

It's just too bad that some of the citizens of Haliburton have to tear paper in little bits and throw them out on the street. This carelessness makes it that much harder for the street cleaning department to pick-up. The refuse containers have been put on the street for that purpose, please use them.

Boice Motors mechanic work is now being done in what is known as the Canada Dry warehouse. They will do this work here until such time as the new extension is on the building on the main street. Work is now being done on the new part.

Algar Coach Lines are running special buses to the Lindsay Central Exhibition this week.
